Home: CV Firebirds vs. Away: HSK Silver Knights

Date: Jan 10, 2026 6:00PM PST

Pre-Game

The Silver Knights are on a 3-game points streak, and 5-1-2-2 in the last 10 games. Tanner Laczynski is on a terror leading the team, and he is one of the top forwards in the AHL. One of the biggest reasons the Silver Knights are in the playoff mix this year. They lost in a shootout in Ontario last night. Tonight's game is the 3rd in a 5 game road trip, which finished up next weekend with 2 games in Colorado.

The Firebirds need to get back on the right track. They are 4-5-1-0 in the last 10 games with only 2 wins on the last 8 games, and they have fallen a point out of a playoff spot. In 4 of the last 5 games, they have given up 5 goals or more. Tying up sticks in the defensive zone is something they need to get back too.

Taking a cue from the Kraken might be in order. The Kraken went on a losing streak that found themselves at the bottom of the standings, but have rallied since to put themselves at the top of the Pacific. Alsoe, in the ECHL, the Kansas City Mavericks have been on a point games streak that sees them in first place 5 games ahead of 2nd. Positive results are in the organization. It is still early in the season for the Firebirds to get back on track.

Head-to-Head

They meet again. The Firebirds have split games 4 times against teams they played back-to-back with days in between games. The Silver Knights lost last night in a shootout to the Reign. The Reign are now in first place in the Pacific. The Silver Knights are 2-0-0-0 against the Firebirds this season. Tanner Laczynski has been the thorn in the Firebirds side with 8 points in the 2 games. Will the Silver Knights have enough energy to compete against the Firebirds, or will the Firebirds become angry birds and rebound from the loss on Wednesday to keep the back-to-back split games going?

1st Period

New night, but same result. Silver Knights got on the board first within the first 3 minutes. A scramble in front of Kokko that eventually knocked Kokko down. Jonas Rondberg got a loose puck and put it into the goals Kokko was down and out. After an official review, the goal was good. The Firebirds training came out to talk to Kokko who had to be taken off the ice. Ostman came into goal. The game turned into a track meet. No sustained pressure by either team. The Silver Knights were able to keep the puck in the zone and Jackson Hallum came freely down the slot to score the second goal.

2nd Period

The Firebirds probably had some words between periods as they took the game back in the 2nd period. Off a face off, Silver Knights turned over the puck. Eduard Sale intercepted the puck in the slot and shot the puck over the glove of Whitehead to get the first Firebirds goal. 5 minutes later, off another face off, the puck came back to Caden Price. Caden hesitate to let screen setup and fire the puck over the shoulder of Whitehead to score his first AHL goal. The Firebirds were not done. A scramble in the O-zone left Ian McKinnon in the slot and he put it home to give the Firebirds the lead.

3rd Period

Both teams spent time in the o-zone, but neither team could get the puck past either net minder. The period was getting more physical and chippy. The 2nd game on back-to-back nights had an effect on the Silver Knights as they were a step slower. The Firebirds did better job of tying up their opponents and winning the puck battles along the boards and corners. The Firebirds had a few chances with 2 minutes to go to score an empty net goal, but couldn't find the net.

Post-Game

The Firebirds broke through and beat the Silver Knights for the first time this season. A hard-fought win and the never say die attitude got the job done. Tanner Laczynski didn't factor in the game as the Firebirds made sure to tie him up when possible. The Firebirds leap frog over the Silver Knights in the standings. The Firebirds hit the road to play Texas and then San Diego on Saturday next weekend.
